

52 Weeks of Anti-Racist Activities for Black Joy and Resilience: A Social Justice Journey

Racism is a systemic problem that has plagued our society for centuries. It has resulted in the oppression and marginalization of Black people in all aspects of life. From education to healthcare to criminal justice, Black people face discrimination and racism on a daily basis.

This book is a response to the racism that Black people face. It is a 52-week journey that will challenge readers to think critically about racism, engage in anti-racist work, and create a more just world. Each week features activities, readings, and resources to help readers learn about racism, its history, and its impact on Black people. Readers will also learn about the importance of self-care, Black joy, and resilience.

This book is not a quick fix to racism. It is a long-term commitment to anti-racist work. But if we are willing to put in the work, we can create a more just and equitable world for all.
